

Peronist Strike In Argentina

24-Hour Protest Work Stoppage Has Little Effect

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Peronists pitted their working masses against President Arturo Frondizi today with a 24-hour protest strike.

In this capital at midday there were signs the followers of ousted dictator Juan D. Peron had faltered. But in the hard-core Peronist industrial areas outside they showed strength.

Buses, trains and other forms of transportation buzzed as usual in and around the capital. Residents got their morning milk and newspaper deliveries on time. Store clerks showed up for work and downtown business functioned.

From Rosario, usually a pro-Peronist stronghold, official reports said the strike there was only partial. But nothing had been heard from restless Cordoba, the vast interior industrial complex with U.S. auto factories. Officials had said they expected the walk-out to be effective there.

Peronist strength, on the basis of these fragmentary reports, seemed centered in the industrial towns around Buenos Aires. Peron had built his power there before his ouster in 1955.

There still were signs of tension in official quarters, and fears that strike violence may set off a military coup that would depose Frondizi. But there was no word of any troubles.

Hector Gomez Machado, Frondizi's majority leader in congress, said the events of the day were "a process of psychological warfare to alter the tranquility of the country."

It was the president's 35th crisis.

Stockpiling Tops $6.25 Billion Mark

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has accumulated $6.25 billion worth of 12 items for its national strategic stockpile at a cost of $552 million above present market values.

A breakdown on the 12 items, made available to members of Congress after President Kennedy lifted the secrecy label on them, showed today all are held in greater quantities than the amounts calculated as necessary for a three-year war.

Kennedy had ordered the secrecy restrictions removed in preparation of a Senate investigation scheduled to open soon.

The excess, about which Kennedy complained, ranges from 14 per cent for copper to 788 per cent for zinc. With other items which still are classified as secret, this particular stockpile has on hand or on order $2.2 billion more than its actual requirements.

This is only one of nine different stockpiles under which the government has accumulated $13.9 billion in materials, including $5 billion in surplus agricultural commodities. An additional stockpile of nuclear materials is not covered in any public report.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., told the Senate Thursday that in many instances hundreds of millions of dollars have been spent for unnecessary items accumulated in the stockpile.

No Snow Here From New Storm, Says Forecaster

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Another storm is moving out of the Rockies, but Missouri is not expected to get any snow.

Rain or showers are forecast for the state tonight and Saturday with not much change in temperature. Low's Saturday morning will be near 40 in the northwest, around 50 southwest and in the 40s in the rest of the state. Highs Saturday will be in the 45-55 range, except for some 60 degree readings in the west central sections.

Kirksville had a low of 28 this morning, while Springfield and Cape Girardeau shared the high of 36.

For the next five days temperatures are forecast to average near normal.

Demo's Views Different

GOP Seat Gain In Reshuffling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now that the task of congressional redistricting due to population shifts is about over, major party election experts see the possible results this way:

Republicans figure they will wind up with a net gain of about eight House seats as a result of the reapportionment, although they believe some of the new contests, such as in Hawaii and Michigan, will be close.

Democrats say the GOP claims are too optimistic, and figure to come out of the reshuffling with a net loss of not more than four seats. They say with a hard fight they could reduce this estimate.

The main difference between the estimates lies in the GOP claim of a gain of one seat each in Arizona, Hawaii, Michigan and Ohio. Democrats put these new seats in the doubtful column and say they should have an edge in Michigan.

Also, there is some conflict in the two-party claims respecting California, New York and Pennsylvania. In all, 16 states lose 21 House memberships and nine states gain 19 seats under the 1960 census, which will be reflected in the Nov. 6 elections.

Of the losing states, only Massachusetts, whose House delegation is cut from 14 to 12, and Mississippi, reduced from 6 to 5, have yet to redistrict. Both states are considering the matter, but the Bay State has a much tougher problem and there is a prospect that all 12 representatives will be forced to run in statewide races.

Alabama, cut from 9 to 8, also has not redistricted, but has a novel primary plan which will result in all 8 seats being filled at large.

Of the states that gain seats, Hawaii, Michigan, Ohio and Texas, which pick up 1 each, have not remapped, so they will elect their extra member at large. Maryland will too because, after redistricting, the plan was challenged and it will be voted on in a November referendum.

Every Democratic or Republican loss from reapportionment does not necessarily mean a gain for the other party. For example, the Democrats will lose one seat in Alabama and two in Arkansas simply because they now have solid Democratic delegations from those states and reapportionment cut them that many.

Republicans on the other hand are bound to lose one each in Maine and Nebraska without a corresponding gain for the Democrats because both states are now represented in the House only by Republicans and they each lose a seat under the 1960 census.

Republicans who have been studying the district reshuffling say they expect to gain at least 11 seats from the process and lose three they add, however, that their calculations are on the assumption the GOP holds on to districts where Republican and Democratic incumbents are forced to run against each other in a new district.

The Republicans say they are also assuming that several states where GOP incumbents have been hurt by redistricting will remain in the GOP column.

Bob Heins

Heins Named President Of JC Chapter

Robert A. Heins, 2404 Margaret, was named president of the Sedalia Junior Chamber of Commerce Thursday night at a meeting of the group at the Coffee Pot Cafe. He succeeds Allen Hawkins, 1609 West Ninth, outgoing president.

Heins, a local attorney, is currently working with the Corps of Engineers real estate office in procuring land and right-of-ways for the Minuteman missile complex.

Other officers picked by the Jaycees at their annual election included: Jim Penn, first vice-president; Bill Dennis, second vice-president; Willis Arnold, secretary; George Reichert, treasurer; two-year directors, Charles Edwards, Clem Darrow, Larry Embury; and one-year directors, Harvey Maack and Gene Harvey. New officers will be installed at an installation banquet April 12.

Test Ban Treaty Block

Strong Protest Lodged

Car Incident Reason Sought

BERLIN (AP) — East German police shot up a khaki-colored U.S. mission military car this week, and Western officials are concerned about what may be behind the incident.

It was the second time this month the East Germans have fired on an automobile belonging to a Western Allied liaison mission attached to Soviet headquarters at Potsdam.

The latest incident occurred Tuesday near Gotha, an East German town about 150 miles southwest of Berlin, but was not disclosed until Thursday night. No one was hurt.

An East German patrol stopped the American staff car, which was carrying a major and a driver, on an official mission. The major said the East Germans had no right to stop him and demanded to see a Soviet officer.

The police squad leader said, "We are in charge here."

The U.S. officer repeated his demand and time was spent in argument. Finally, when no Soviet officer appeared, the major gave his driver orders to drive on.

East German police opened fire with a submachine gun. Bullets punctured a tire and riddled the trunk without hitting the Americans.

After some miles the two Americans stopped to fix the tire and asked an East German for assistance. East German police soon caught up, however, and arrested the East German.

A message to U.S. liaison headquarters at Potsdam resulted in another American staff car arriving to help.

U.S. officials said no further information could be given out because of action in progress, but it was reported U.S. military officials were making a strong protest to Soviet authorities.

Fallout Bulk From Tests Expected Soon

Highly Unlikely Protection Needed, Officials Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bulk of the fallout from last fall's Soviet nuclear test series should begin to come down from the stratosphere any time now.

But the Public Health Service says it's highly unlikely there will be any need to take protective measures to reduce human intake of radioactive strontium 90, the fallout material of greatest potential concern from the health standpoint.

Strontium 90 is chemically akin to calcium and concentrates in the bones, where it is capable of causing bone cancer or leukemia. The radioactive material can be on vegetables or grains eaten directly by man or can pass along indirectly through grass eaten by cows, then into the milk or meat.

While the settling of the fallout is expected to last for several months—reaching its maximum in the rains of late April or early May—the bulk of the debris in the stratosphere may come down in two steps, part this spring and the rest in the spring of 1963.

And, some of the debris may fall gradually over seven or eight successive springs.

This was the situation as obtained in interviews with Public Health Service and Weather Bureau officials. The views are a followup to the forecasts of last fall and winter that most of the debris from the Soviet tests—that is, the component originally spread high in the stratosphere—would not begin to come down until this spring.

Officials of the health service's division of radiological health said that as yet, there is no discernible evidence that the fallout is beginning to come down, although they expect it to begin soon.

They said the rough estimates of strontium, determinable about a week from initial fallout, would only be made as insurance against getting caught short in the event of any significant increases. And they deemed this unlikely.

Lt. Carter

Tipton Man To Take Part In 'A' Tests

Army 2nd Lt. Donald C. Carter, Tipton, recently was assigned to Task Unit 8.1.3 of Joint Task Force Eight at Sandia Base, N.M., to support Operation Dominic, a joint Department of Defense-Atomic Energy Commission nuclear test series conducted in the atmosphere over the Pacific Ocean.

This task unit is composed of scientists, engineers and technicians of the Army, Navy, Marines, and Air Force assigned to the Weapons Effects Group, Field Command, Defense Atomic Support Agency at Sandia Base.

President Kennedy authorized the operation on March 2, 1962, saying it would involve "only those tests which cannot be held underground." The tests are to be conducted under conditions which restrict the radioactive fallout to an absolute minimum. The President authorized the series only after exhaustive evaluation of the Russian atmospheric tests of 1961 showed that the U.S. had been "left no choice but to keep our defensive arsenal adequate for the security of all free men." He further stated that if the USSR would sign a fully effective treaty before the latter part of April and apply it immediately there would be no need for this test to begin.

All the detonations of Dominic are conducted under stringent controls to insure the safety of all personnel associated with the operation.

Lieutenant Carter entered the Army last August and is an administrative officer with the task unit at Sandia Base.

The 23-year-old officer is a 1956 graduate of Tipton High School and a 1961 graduate of Lincoln University, Jefferson City.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Carter, Tipton.

Blame Placed By Both Sides

GENEVA (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk accused the Soviet Union today of blocking a nuclear test ban treaty while presumably planning a new series of atomic weapon explosions.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko sharply denied the charge and blamed the United States for the failure to reach agreement on a test ban.

The clash came in the 17-nation disarmament conference when the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union reported collapse of their efforts to start new negotiations on a test ban treaty.

Gromyko said the United States is to blame for the failure because it has scheduled a new series of atmospheric nuclear tests and does not want a test prohibition.

Rusk said President Kennedy had emphasized the United States would stop all tests if the Soviet Union would sign a treaty with effective controls against cheating. Kennedy has ordered the tests to start in late April unless such a treaty is signed.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home said the Western powers are prepared to work out a control system on the most objective scientific basis possible. Home promised minimum controls to Gromyko earlier in the week but Gromyko rejected any kind of international controls which would put foreign observers inside the Soviet Union.

Gromyko renewed the Soviet charge that the West wants to set up an espionage system. He brushed aside Rusk's charge of new Soviet test plans by saying it was a pretext to cover known American test plans.

Rusk said the Russians three to four years ago had approved scientific plans for international inspection to police a test ban. The ban is no less urgent now than it was in 1958, he said. He declared the Soviet spy charge had no rational basis because the proposed inspection system could not be used that way.

Rusk spoke from a prepared text. Gromyko replied extemporaneously. An informant said he accused the United States of an aggressive act in deciding to resume testing in the atmosphere. He denied the Soviet Union had broken a moratorium when it started its series of about 50 tests last September. There was no moratorium in existence then, Gromyko said.

Rusk appealed to the Soviet Union to join the United States and Britain in working out a treaty based on adequate international control arrangements and said time was getting short to reach a decision.

The American secretary told the 17-nation disarmament conference the United States and Britain could not be expected to accept a treaty based solely on pure faith.

The United States meanwhile stood firmly opposed to a Soviet proposal for East German control of West Berlin's supply lines under international supervision.

Fighting Continues In Algiers

French Military Strafe Town In US-made Planes

ALGIERS (AP) — French military planes strafed the defiant worker suburb of Bab El Oued today and authorities reported heavy street fighting continues in the area.

Four U.S.-made T6 training planes sprayed machinegun bullets into large apartment buildings from which men with Secret Army armbands fired bullets and tossed grenades on French ground troops below them.

At 5 p.m. (11 a.m. EST), officials reported at least 10 soldiers killed and 30 wounded in the street fighting.

A French headquarters spokesman said heavy fighting continues in Bab El Oued, where 50,000 European workers make their homes. The entire area is encircled by troops and entrances and exits have been barred by barbed wire.

Civilian authorities described the developing situation in Bab El Oued as extremely alarming. They said they feared the spread of generalized fighting into other European sections of Algiers in response to the Secret Army's call to oppose Algerian independence.

Armored cars and halftracks were in position around Bab El Oued. Fighting flared up this morning with attacks by European gunmen on three French army patrols. By midafternoon gunfire had spread to all streets ringing Bab El Oued. Europeans took to windows and roofs to pour fire on troop patrols. Many of them wore French army uniforms with black armbands bearing the French initials of the secret army.

Their weapons included heavy mortars, machineguns, bazookas and recoilless rifles stolen from French military depots.

The appearance of planes was a clear indication of a stiffening attitude by troops and riot forces against Secret Army followers who are determined to keep Algeria French.

Hitch-Hiker Won't Forget Sedalia Soon

An elderly hitch-hiker should be much happier today through the efforts of the employees of the NuWay Cafe on South Limit and the members of the Police Department.

Thursday morning the elderly man, who gave his address as Springfield, was seen in front of the cafe by the employees. He was apparently crippled. The cafe workers watched for some time and the man failed to obtain a ride.

As he was crippled, and was not bothering anyone, the employees called the Police Station and told the desk sergeant that if they would take the man into Sedalia and to the bus station, they would pay his fare to Springfield.

A pot of $5 was made up at the cafe and given to the police when they picked the man up. As the bus did not leave until late in the afternoon, the man stayed at the police station. At bus time, the officers took the man to the bus station, paid his fare out of the $5 and gave him the change.

The man profusely thanked the officers and the employees at the cafe, and stated that in hitchhiking all over the nation he had never been treated with such kindness.

Lively Speaker

Capacity Crowd At CofC Banquet

Mark Stone, Kansas City, Kans., lived up to his reputation as a hilarious after-dinner speaker Thursday evening at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Smith-Cotton Cafeteria, as he kept his audience laughing continuously with his flow of humor.

P. Cecil Owen, second vice-president, introduced the speaker with "Live and Laugh with Mark Stone."

There is enough trouble in the world, said Stone, if you laugh you live longer.

Only once did he become serious for a few minutes to stress the importance of Chamber of Commerce work. He was surprised to find the room filled with people, for again there was the capacity crowd of 600 in attendance.

His own town of Kansas City, Kans., built, through subscription, the hotel Town House, he said, and it has brought a lot of money to the town, he said. It has brought industry and many other things. Most anything can be done when people want to do it, he stated, and membership in the Chamber of Commerce is the way to accomplish this. The little fellow, he pointed out, feels the Chamber is not for him. He feels there is nothing that benefits him but when an industry comes to town it helps everybody.

That one little man doesn't think he is important to the organization, Stone continued, but sometimes it is the little fellow who knows someone and can get the job done that the big fellow can't do because he has a contact that the big fellow hasn't got.

Stone highly praised Sam Boyle, president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, for his accomplishments through the past year.

The meeting was opened by Boyle, and invocation was by the Rev. F. S. Laudick, pastor of Sacred Heart Church.

Boyle, who is both president and manager of the Chamber, stated he felt this past year had been a good one for Sedalia on the basis of other towns of Missouri. He told of the importance of agriculture and industry in the community, both new industry and that which has been here many years. He stated he felt the town was fortunate to have Whiteman Air Force Base so close, of what the Minuteman program meant to the town and welcomed all of the newcomers that it had brought here.

Two men who are always well received by audiences, Al Domingue and John Vandekamp, sang a group of songs which included "McNamara's Band," "Speak to Me of Love" and "That's A More" with "Autumn Leaves" as an encore. (Please turn to page 5 column 3)

Minuteman Is Successful In Pit Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Minuteman intercontinental range missile was launched from an underground pit Thursday night on a successful test flight of more than 4,000 miles.

The success was the seventh in a row for the Minuteman and advanced it another notch toward an operational goal of late this year. Once ready, hundreds of the solid-fuel missiles will be stationed in protected silos, ready for instant retaliation in case of attack.

RLDS Dedicates New Home In Independence

Several members of the Sedalia congregation of the Reorganized
Church of Jesus Christ of Latter
Day Saints plan to attend the dedication of the recently-completed auditorium, world headquarters for the church, in Independence
April 1.

As the church observes its World Conference April 1-8, the multi-million dollar auditorium, which dominates the skyline of eastern Jackson County, will stand as a significant symbol of the vitality of this movement.

Begun in 1926, during the presidency of Dr. Frederick M. Smith, construction was halted during the depression of the 1930's. It is now completed and will be dedicated Sunday, April 1, at 2 p.m.

Delegates and visitors from many parts of the world are expected to attend.

The auditorium contains 200 rooms, the majority of which are used as administrative and departmental offices of the general church. The largest room in the auditorium is the conference chamber designed to accommodate the world conference of the church. Seating 5,800 people and a distinctive feature is the large organ with its 6,300 pipes, one of the largest free-standing pipe organs in the nation.

On April 8, with the close of the worship service devoted to missionary assignments, the conference will be adjourned until 1964. The crowds will disperse and delegates and friends will return to home congregations with renewed zest to pursue the church's commitment of its ministry into all the world.

Independence and Kansas City will not be emptied, for some 20,000 church members have migrated to this "center place" to establish their homes, to worship in the 50 congregations of the church established in the greater Kansas City area.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new smoother figure today, without diet or exercise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. A startling innovation is the sheer front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A feather-stitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem. The girdle itself is of "wonder" Lycra spandex fiber. It feels like nothing on but has such slimming strength it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation. "Suddenly Slim" is the peak achievement of the designer-genius, Olga.

Be "Suddenly Slim" today in either girdle or panty version. Call Chapman's, TA 6-2711 now.

Two Faces of America

When a teen-ager recently tangled with John Glenn near his church, the best and the worst of America were for a brief moment side by side.

Suppose this misguided young ruffian had actually struck the astronaut. What a picture for the nation and the world if Glenn, the man who survived the hazards of rocket flight, had had to display a bandaged face.

Glenn believes the boy and his crude companions did not recognize him. But this in no way alters the meaning of the incident.

If the offending teen-agers did not know who he was, they first-off convicted themselves of woeful ignorance. Secondly, his identity is not the crucial matter. For at that moment, Glenn simply was standing in for any decent American who might protest youthful misbehavior.

Perhaps the most striking thing about the episode is that it arrayed the discipline of John Glenn against the all too common undiscipline of a determinedly irresponsible minority of Americans.

The astronaut's discipline in his chosen field is well established. But in the teen-age incident he displayed the discipline of the whole man, the responsible citizen, not content with merely being decent, insistent on speaking and acting for decency.

Oddly, not long after this event in Arlington, Va., U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson — unaware of the episode — called upon Americans to see Glenn as a vitally needed symbol of dedication and discipline.

In the astronaut, said Stevenson, "we can perhaps glimpse some reflection of the kind of discipline and restraint which we all need in some measure if our generation is to achieve great tasks, not only in the upper air but here and now in this bewildered and floundering world."

Stevenson, properly, is not despairing. He remarks the thousands of young Americans who volunteer for the rigors of the Peace Corps, the uncomplaining military reservists, the dedicated young science students, the countless "unsung citizens" who apply themselves diligently and faithfully to tasks which reward them and serve their community and nation.

Yet clearly he does not believe this spirit, this high self-control, grips enough of us. The tyranny of the undisciplined minority exerts a force beyond its numbers in what he calls this "slack age."

Stevenson, like many others, sees too much stress on comfort and ease, "smash and grab," and "me first." There is neither enough hard work nor enough standing up for the right and the good.

John Glenn stood for all these admirable things when he climbed into his capsule to orbit the earth.

He stood for them no less when he put a restraining hand on a group of youngsters still untouched by the lessons of discipline he has long since mastered.

Ambassador Irks a Congressman

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The American ambassador to Israel, Walworth Barbour, has learned a lesson: Don't fail to meet a congressman at the airport even if it means getting up before breakfast.

Ambassador Barbour learned his lesson the hard way from Congressman John Leonard Pilcher of Georgia and he has had no less than the President of the United States and the secretary of state raise Cain about it. Visiting congressmen are to be met at airports no matter how early in the morning.

It all happened when Congressman Pilcher spoke at a dinner in Beirut, Lebanon, an Arab country which doesn't get along with Israel. The Georgia solon was chairman of a House foreign affairs subcommittee studying foreign aid around the world. He worked hard.

In Lebanon a dinner given in the committee's honor was boycotted by Lebanese congressmen because the American congressmen were going on to Israel. Despite this Pilcher got up and made a speech defending Israel, called it a good friend of the United States, urged better understanding between it and the Arab world.

Next day, en route to Cyprus, other congressmen congratulated Pilcher, remarked: "They'll certainly have the royal welcome out for you in Israel."

"I'm tired of all this pomp and ceremony," remarked the congressman from Georgia modestly.

"Yes, if we could just be to ourselves a little," added Mrs. Pilcher.

Next morning the congressional delegation arrived at the Tel Aviv airport at 8 a.m. The ambassador was not there. Only a protocol officer from the U.S. embassy was present. Congressman Pilcher did not say anything, but it was plain to see he was irked. Finally, as he was about to get into the car to drive to his hotel, he told the protocol officer: "You can tell the ambassador to go to hell."

"Not on the Ball"

It is said there is no fury like that of a woman scorned. But in this case there was nothing like a congressman scorned. Pilcher had been doing a conscientious job, had stood up to defend Israel and he was now indignant.

He wired President Kennedy that Ambassador Barbour was not on the ball. He notified the Israelis that he would attend no functions.

Prime Minister Ben Gurion had arranged a luncheon in Jerusalem in honor of the congressmen and there was some doubt as to whether the chairman would attend. Finally he agreed to go, on condition Ambassador Barbour would not be there.

During the luncheon, the congressional wives went through the Mandelbaum gate into the Arab section of old Jerusalem. William B. Macomber, U.S. ambassador to Jordan, met them there.

President Kennedy wired his apologies to the congressman from Georgia, and Secretary of State Rusk not only wired his apologies but said the State Department was demanding an immediate explanation from Barbour.

The congressional subcommittee finally pulled out of Israel, wives and all, for the next stop on its round-the-world tour. But as it departed, Congressman Pilcher sent word that Ambassador Barbour was not to be at the airport to say good-bye.

In the future the U.S. ambassador to Israel will get up earlier in the morning.

BALTIMORE SUN: Why the Embassy Burned.—It was a great shame that the United States embassy in Mexico burned down before it was built and we bet we know what happened. Walk along any Mexican street where building is going on (and that means most streets in Mexico City) and you notice that the scaffolding is roofed and occupied. Groups of men are cooking dinner over bonfires inside the skeletal structures, playing cards, singing, and generally making themselves at home. Someone built too big a fire and puffed there went an embryonic embassy. Unkind people say that one reason why Mexican builders don't hurry is that when they finish a building they have to look for a new home.

Magnuson Strong for Education

It took a bachelor senator to push through Congress the most important bill for educational television in the history of the USA.

Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington, to whom President Kennedy paid tribute as one of the most effective senators in the nation's capital, has been plugging away for more educational TV for about six years.

Though not a family man, Magnuson has studied the shortage of qualified teachers, the neglect of the schools, and the progress of Russian education. Through three different Senates he had passed a bill giving a subsidy of $1,000,000 to each of the states for educational TV, but each time the bill got stuck in the House. The House rules committee blocked it.

Finally the Parent-Teachers Associations got behind Magnuson and together they induced the House to pass an educational TV bill. It provides only $25,000,000 instead of $50,000,000, and this is to be in matching funds, rather than outright federal grants as provided by Magnuson.

Also the House bill fails to provide for a hook-up of educational TV stations with other educational stations so as to form regional educational networks. This was supposed to be worked out by the White House before the bill was passed. Said Jerry Wiesner of the White House staff: "I knew there was something I was supposed to talk to the House leadership about but it just slipped my mind."

Note—At present there are only 62 educational TV stations on the air in the entire United States, though 273 channels have been reserved for educational TV since 1952. The reason they can't get into operation is lack of money.

A Japanese Princess

Washington's Cherry Blossom Festival this year will have a real Japanese girl as one of the Princesses but she will not compete for the honor of queen. Mariko Kosaka, the 20 year old daughter of Japanese Foreign Minister Zentaro and Mrs. Kosaka. She will take a brief holiday from her studies at Skidmore College in New York to participate in the festivities on April 7th in Washington.

The selection of Mariko as the first Cherry Blossom princess from Japan is part of this year's observance of the 5th anniversary of the planting of 2000 cherry trees, given by the Japanese government, along the Tidal basin in 1912.

Mariko has only donned her Japanese kimono once during her two years at Skidmore. She says she is much more comfortable in dungarees and sneakers.

While in the nation's capital, Mariko will light the 300 year old Japanese lantern stone by the Tidal Basin at 3 o'clock on April 3 which officially opens the week long festival. On April 5th she will join the Japanese Ambassador Koichiro Asaki as hostess at the Embassy's traditional tea for the Cherry Blossom Princesses.

A beautiful Japanese girl will add authenticity to the 50 year old festival this year.

Massachusetts Feud

The Hatfield and McCoy feuds of the southern mountains may look tame compared with the Massachusetts feud that will take place in the Democratic primary this year.

The President's youngest brother, the hand-some of the three Kennedy sons, chose to throw his political hat on the nation-wide television program "Meet the Press."

This may be a case of too many Kennedys. His opponent will be Edward J. McCormack (nephew of House Speaker McCormack) who is a little older and more experienced than Teddy. The primary fight is sure to involve the President and the Speaker.

And that isn't all. Whoever wins in the Primary will have another attractive young Bostonian to beat, Republican George Cabot Lodge, son of Henry Cabot Lodge, who lost this Senate seat in 1952 to John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

The fight is on, and the New England Commonwealth will be a spot for the nation to watch.

Republicans Working On Principles

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republicans—at least the Republicans in Congress—are still trying to figure out where they stand and for what. They're working on a set of principles.

These are to be ready some time in June for use in this year's congressional elections, a field in which they haven't been having much luck.

They've won control of Congress only twice in the 15 elections since 1932. Their national chairman, William E. Miller, tried to pep them up by predicting victory and telling them not to be defeatist.

But, as Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona remarked, getting Republicans to agree on a catalog of principles won't be easy.

Then Goldwater, the highly conservative Republican who seems to be making more speeches than anyone else in his party, uttered a thought which, if it came to pass, might spread more confusion than cohesion.

"What I would like to see," he said, "would be a statement of basic principles from which individual members can go where they want."

The congressional Republicans created a 12-man committee of themselves to recommend the principles. Before the 12 do that, they'll have to agree on the principles.

Then they hope they'll get agreement from the Republican National Committee and approval from all the Republicans in Congress. Meanwhile, they are asking for recommendations from Republicans all over the country.

Their list of almost 400 people includes former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and all the Republican governors.

And, for a very simple reason, this should be quite a list of recommendations:

The Republicans, like the Democrats, talk of themselves as a single political party, a condition odd enough to frenzy a non-party when the conservatives in both parties join forces to defeat the liberals in both parties, and vice versa, which is what they do.

If anyone doubts it, he will

A Junior Federated club, sponsored by the Cosmos club, has been organized at Windsor with the following officers: President, Margaret Lane; Vice-President, Mrs. Jimmie Cordry; Secretary, Mrs. Harry Ordway; Treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Myers; Reporter, Harriet Leonard; Parliamentarian, Grace Wharton; American Home chairman, Pansy Lee Douglas; Citizenship chairman, Mrs. Carter Oakes; Fine Arts chairman, Mrs. Norman Humphrey.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The city engineer issued a building permit to Carson Meredith for construction of a two-story frame residence at 705 West Seventh street at a cost of $4,000.

Democratic voters of the city through their delegates to the city convention held in the high school auditorium, chose the following nominees for the city election in April: For mayor, F. F. Hatton; city marshal, George H. Rector; city attorney, George F. Boothe; city collector, C. D. Eller; city assessor, Howard Melton; city treasurer, Miss Nelle Harris; police judge, John A. Collins; school board, Dr. Nancy Meek Hain and F. L. Ludemann. Claude Wikerson, chairman of the city meeting, presided.

have to contend with Goldwater whose idea of Republican principles is not likely to be a duplicate of Rockefeller's.

Goldwater recently told Republicans: "If it is fair to claim that the Democratic party is schizoid, torn by internal dissensions, struggling to find a middle way between the extremes of Hubert Humphrey and Harry Byrd, it is also fair to say the Republican party has failed to present to this nation a solid political organization unequivocally committed to an easily definable political philosophy."

It might also be fair to suggest Goldwater's appraisal could be shortened to say: The Republicans are all mixed up.

If they sometimes seem to have an almost mystical unity in criticizing President Kennedy's programs, it doesn't by any means exhaust either their acidity or their critical enthusiasms.

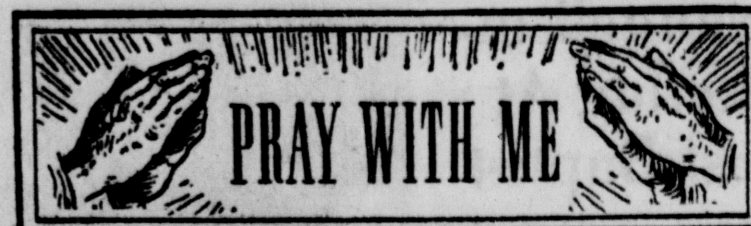

Some of them haven't been too happy with themselves, as they demonstrated notably at their Lincoln Day dinners when:

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine suggested the party's potential presidential candidates were showing faintheartedness about running against President Kennedy in 1964.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York scolded Republicans for "paying too much attention to the thunder of the right and not enough to the thunder on the cities."

And Sen. Hiram L. Fong of Hawaii said it's about time Republicans asked themselves whether they have lost touch with millions "who no longer regard Republicans as their champions."

In view of all the views that would have to be reconciled to get agreement on a set of principles, the product may not be what politicians like to call a ringing declaration. Javits said he hopes it won't be fuzzy.

Pinpointing the Circle

New Tax Bill Gets Priority Over Other Legislation

By ROBERT E. HENNESSEE
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The White House has drawn a big black circle around the new tax bill, pinpointing it as the chief cause of the January slow-down in the nation's economy.

As a result, the bill, which gives industry tremendous incentive to replace its old machinery and erect new plants, has been given priority over every other piece of legislation.

In anticipation of the passage of the bill this spring or summer industry has been holding back so as to benefit from the bill. This, in turn, has slowed the economy, and in an election year at that.

Administration economists believe the bill will work quickly, creating a modest boom. But Congress will have to act fast if the results are to be felt in time for the November congressional elections.

To speed up the bill, the administration has passed the word that it is willing to compromise a little on it, trimming down the benefits to big industry.

The nation's newspapers, faced with a damaging increase in postal rates, get little sympathy with their pleas over at the Post Office Department. The main reason is that most of America's newspapers are Republican. "The Republican press" is a common description over there.

The airlines have gotten off to a bad start, with a series of fatal crashes all around the globe.

They come right on top of what was one of the safest years in aviation history — 1961. At least this is the case for the regularly scheduled airlines.

The CAB estimates that in 1961, the regular airlines carried 58 million passengers, losing only 124 in 12 fatal crashes. This figures out to be 0.29 deaths per 100 million passenger miles.

The supplemental, or unscheduled lines, however, had a horrible year, losing six passengers per 100 million miles.

On the basis of these figures, the regular airlines emerge about 20 times as safe as the non-scheduled.

As a result, Congress is almost certain to pass legislation aimed at improving nonskid safety.

duce production. The "so called" soil conservation program was started during the depression as a demonstration project, but after farmers were convinced of the need for lime, soil and water conservation practices, efforts to terminate the program were successfully resisted by the then strongly entrenched "bureaucrats" and lime quarry owners and it is still in operation.

There is absolutely no justification in the thinking farmer's mind for such a situation to exist.

Search for Freedom (11) Light in Darkness

Life in the Middle Ages was a circumscribed one, revolving about the manor, the church and the village. There were stirrings of change, however. Soldiers returning from the long Crusades brought back tales of fantastic, wealthy civilizations in the East. Europe's major cities were little more than towns by today's standards, but some, such as Venice, were growing rich and powerful through trade.

Intellectual life was circumscribed, too. Inquisitions sought out any suspicion of heresy, thus stifling advance in medicine and all other scientific fields. Up to the 12th or 13th centuries, the only university in Europe was the Mohammedan one in Cordova, Spain. Then they began to appear at such places as Salerno, Paris, Oxford. Students wandered over Europe. Education, even in the universities, was still in the hands of priests for the most part. Aside from the Bible and writings of the church fathers, Aristotle's writings formed the main body of knowledge (for he was thought to have known everything there was to know). Theology reached its height in the 13th century with such thinkers as Albertus Magnus and Thomas Aquinas.

It was in this century also that a relatively unimportant event occurred, but one which later generations of men were to consider the high point of the Middle Ages. This was the signing of the Magna Carta by King John in 1215. This unscrupulous king, who had turned England over to Pope Innocent III and bought

by Don Oakley and John Lane

it back as a fief for an annual fee, met his match in a group of nearly as unscrupulous barons. Actually, the Magna Carta did nothing for the common people. It was essentially an attempt by the lords to preserve the feudal status quo.

The important thing is what Englishmen later believed it to mean: habeas corpus (lawful arrest); jury trial by one's equals; no taxation without consent; the origins of Parliament; and, above all, the limiting of the powers of a king by his subjects. These things all Englishmen were one day to achieve, using as their justification the Magna Carta. As such a symbol, it truly became a landmark on the long road to human liberty.

Local Junior College Is Discussed

"A Junior College for Sedalia" was the subject of Thomas J. Norris, superintendent of schools, at the Lions Club noonday meeting Wednesday. The meeting was held at the Bothwell Hotel.

Superintendent Norris revealed a survey which he had been working on for sometime, regarding the possibility of giving to Sedalia a junior college. In his talk, Mr. Norris reported that from the survey to date, there are an average of 155 students who indicated they would attend such a school, but to make a junior college successful and worthwhile, there should be at least 400 students to make it practical while an enrollment of 600 would make it much better.

In a recent survey, out of 767 graduating high school seniors, 299 definitely plan on attending college, 307 were not so sure, and 161 were definitely not going to college and of that number 23 were girls who plan marriage right away.

In the survey Norris pointed out the attendance of Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg had a definite bearing on students lacking a desire for a junior college. Many of the students are attending state colleges, and he brought out 102 are in Missouri University, 12 at Kansas U., and others scattered through 58 other colleges in 39 different states.

An advantage of the junior college is for the young students, where today a great number are graduating at 15 and 16 years of age and are not mature for college, while the two years in a junior college would be most helpful in many ways for these students who desire a college education.

Norris brought out that over a period from 1957 through 1961, Pettis County and Sedalia high school graduates going to college average 33.34 per cent in 1957, 40.21 in 1958, 40.24 in 1959, 40.52 in 1960 and 40.94 in 1961.

In his talk he also impressed on the Lions, "All this talk about our young people leaving Sedalia, it has been figured that 80-percent of these youngsters are still living right here in Sedalia after a five year survey."

"While in a city with a junior college the percentage is up, and approximately 90 per cent remain in their home town," Norris reported. He discussed the various subjects which would be furnished in such a college and pointed out the tuition would amount to about $50 a semester to local students residing within the school district and about $150 a semester for those living outside of the taxing district.

Norris also reported his survey has not been completed, but anticipates completion this year. He is preparing a most complete survey which he will present to Sedalia for its study, not necessarily to push for such a college at this time, but for general information for those interested.

After his talk he answered questions pro and con as to the advantage of such a college in Sedalia.

The speaker was introduced by Charles Maggard, program chairman. Guest at the meeting was District Governor H. B. Pilkington, of Kansas District 17-AE. Turner Kansas, at the club. Dist. Gov. Pilkington is visiting relatives in Sedalia.

UPPER MONTCLAIR, N.J. (AP)—On Sept. 1, 1959, Stephen Holz pitched a champagne bottle into New York Harbor from the rail of the Nieuw Amsterdam.

Inside the bottle, Holz, 19, an Upsala College freshman, put a note suggesting the finder contact him.

Police Reports

Considerable damage was noted at the Masonic Temple, Broadway and Missouri, after the place was broken into sometime Thursday night. Police Chief Ralph Hamlin and Sgt. Charlie Stuart investigated the incident. Stuart said evidence indicated two men were implicated.

Evidence indicated the thieves tried to enter the building by prying open a rear window, but the attempt was unsuccessful. On the second try the men pried open a basement door, using a large screwdriver. They opened the soft drink machine and took some change.

Extensive damage occurred when the thieves pried open some doors, cabinets and lockers to go through the contents. Stuart said the woodwork was new, much of it plywood, and the thieves appeared to have pushed the screwdriver through the new wood for no apparent reason.

Mrs. Milton F. Thomas, 320 East Chestnut, reported to police the theft of two rear view mirrors from a 1955 Oldsmobile, parked in front of 320 East Chestnut between 8 p.m. Wednesday and 7:30 a.m. Thursday.

A red 26-inch Goodyear bicycle was brought to the police station by officers who had found it in a yard at 421 West Fifth. The bicycle was later claimed by Tommy Spry, 418 East 26th.

Gary Passley, 920 Sue Lane, reported to police that there had allegedly been some vandalism at his home. It was later learned that small children had reportedly gone into the house. Nothing was reported missing.

Jess Dawson, 1419 North Osage, brought to the police station a brown leather billfold he found in back of the hog pavilion at the Fair Grounds. It contained a check made payable to Billy Powell, no address available.

Circuit Court

Garland Burris Carter was granted a divorce from Betty Galbreath Carter in Circuit Court March 23. Harold W. Barrick was the attorney for the plaintiff.

Judge Frank Hayes announced the setting of the Pettis County Circuit Court docket for the April Term will begin at 9:30 a.m. April 2.

The State of Missouri, on behalf of the State Highway Department, has filed a petition for condemnation against several property owners in Pettis County to obtain rights-of-way for improvements along Route H.

The improvement will begin where Route H intersects with Highway 65 about one mile north of Sedalia, and run through Georgetown to a point about two miles south of Hughesville, about seven miles.

The improved and extended route will run roughly along the

Informative Review For Kiwanians

An informative review of the products manufactured by the Pittsburgh Corning Corporation, particularly Foamglas cellular insulation in the Sedalia plants, was given by Larry Griffith, Jr., works manager, before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club at its meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

Samples of the products were displayed at the speaker's table and on the mezzanine. How these products are made locally and in other plants of the company, the background of research, and the adaptability of the products in modern design and construction provided an interesting theme.

The speaker also stressed the public relations policy of the corporation which encourages employees to participate in civic affairs and become an integral part of the community.

"Pittsburgh Corning likes the people of Sedalia. We hope Sedalians like us, too," Mr. Griffith emphasized.

The speaker was introduced by Jack Shoemaker, program chairman, who also called attention to next week's program, a ladies night dinner at Whiteman Air Force Base and a tour of the base at 5 o'clock for those desiring it. On a call for reservations it was indicated 102 persons would attend.

The Lenten Devotional was given by the Rev. Richard Spellman, assistant pastor of the First Christian Church. He was introduced by Ray Ivens.

In further observance of the 50th anniversary of the Girl Scouts of America the club heard a talk by Miss Harriet Waldo, executive director, in which she outlined the purposes and performance of this organization locally and nationally. She was introduced by President Dan Robinson.

Invocation was by the Rev. Roy Stribling, singing was led by Abe Rosenthal with Miss Lillian Fox, accompanist. Birthday greetings were extended to Pete Clow, March 20 and Bill Hurley, March 23.

Sam Boyle, president of the Chamber of Commerce, reported on the need for housing accommodations for incoming families connected with the missile construction program.

President Robinson reported the club will be honored by the annual visit of the Lieutenant Governor, Bert Strobel, Jefferson City, on April 5.

Guests were: Robert Reiter with Monty McQuitty; John Kehde with his father Ed Kehde; John W. St. Clair with John Ryan; and Lt. J.G. Robert V. Morgan with his father, Arthur J. Morgan.

VFW Committee To Meet Tonight

The state convention committee of the local VFW organization will meet at 7:30 tonight at the Bothwell Hotel to finalize plans for the state convention to be held here June 14, 15, 16 and 17.

present route. Exceptions will be along the route west of Georgetown, where the route crosses Muddy Creek. The new route will cross the creek further west than the present route, and will require a new bridge across the creek.

Sheriff Emmett Fairfax is notifying all of the property owners concerned.

Two Promising Mat Men Up Against Stiffer Challenge

Two dazzling young Frenchmen who have been making quite a reputation for themselves as a top-flight wrestling tandem—Maurice LaPointe and Marcel DuPont—face what could be their stiffest challenge at Convention Hall Tuesday night.

The stylish pair will oppose roughers Buddy Austin and Ike Eakins in one-half a double main event.

Sharing top billing will be a girl's team encounter, with Evelyn Stevens and Millie Stafford pitted against Jessica Rogers and Ann Reagan.

In separate events, Austin will wrestle LaPointe and Stevens will take on Reagan.

The team heavyweight clash promises some wild action. The tin and Eakins they'll be going against two seasoned campaigners, both of whom scale 250 pounds or better and both big and rowdy.

To offset the power advantage they will have, the French duo will have to display considerable speed on attack. This either pro is capable of doing. Both are as quick as any of the area wrestlers and both know to sidestep the brute force measures Austin and Eakins will no doubt try to use.

The girls' clash brings together four ringwise lasses who can push, pull and punch with the best of them. None of those entered in Tuesday's action is above using questionable tactics to score a pin. For that reason, a girls' battle royal could develop.

Ball Jargon
Listed In Dictionary

NEW YORK (AP) — No more complaints please about the jargon we use over here in the sports department. We've gone respectable, or at least as respectable as Webster's Third New International dictionary can make us.

For years we've been accused of bewildering Little League mothers and newspaper managing editors with a language all our own. But those tortured words and phrases have made the new dictionary in force.

Four-bagger? It's right there: "A home run." Haymaker? "A powerful blow with a fist often resulting in a knockout." Red dog? "To rush the passer in football." Lay-up? "A jumping one-hand shot in basketball made off the backboard from close under the basket."

There's "pigskin," and "horsehide," and even "bum," both tennis and ski.

There's "soutpaw." "A left-handed baseball pitcher." Also, "A boxer who leads with the right hand and foot forward, while guarding with the left hand."

Foot in the bucket: "Batting with the foot nearest the pitcher drawn back from the plate."

Steal: "To gain a base by running without the aid of a hit or an error."

Also "griddler" and "cager" but, mercifully, not "thinned." They had to draw the line somewhere.

However, the man who wrote the dictionary definition for "curve" either never saw Tommy Bridges or Johnny Sain at their best, or didn't believe it.

He defines it this way: "A baseball pitch in which the ball swerves or appears to swerve from its normal course of flight because of a spin put on it in delivery."

The "screwball" man apparently saw Carl Hubbell work. Here's his definition: "A baseball pitch having reverse spin and a break in the opposite direction to a curve."

Even the spitball is legal in the dictionary. "A baseball pitch delivered after the ball has been moistened with saliva or sweat."

Showdown
For NCAA
Cage Title

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Poised, powerful Ohio State plays Wake Forest and cool, crafty Cincinnati meets UCLA tonight in the climax of their drive toward a second straight showdown for the National Collegiate (NCAA) basketball championship.

The Buckeyes, No. 1 in the nation, and the second-ranked Bearcats are all but odds-on to win the semifinals with ease and set up another all-Ohio championship.

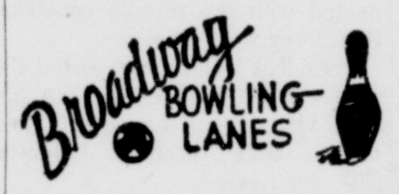

If they make it to Saturday's final, it'll be the first time the same two schools have played for the championship two years in a row. Last year, Cincinnati won its first NCAA title — snapping Ohio State's 32-game winning streak and dethroning the 1960 champs, 70-65 in overtime.

Wake Forest, which has drawn All America Jerry Lucas and Ohio State in the opener, rallied behind All-America Len Chappell and 5-9 Billy Packer to win its last 12 games and the eastern regional eliminations after winning but nine of its first 17. Included in that slow start was an 84-62 loss to the mighty Buckeyes at Winston-Salem in December.

Johnny Wooden's UCLA Bruins also got the Ohio State shock treatment in December, losing to the Bucks in the Los Angeles Classic 105-84. But the Bruins — like Wake Forest in its recovery in the Atlantic Coast Conference — bounced back and won 14 of their last 16 games in nailing the Big Five title and the Far West regional.

The Bruins have team speed and balance, an 18-9 record, and a band of sharpshooters led by 6-2 Johnny Green, with a 19.4 average.

Most concede, however, that it will take Wake Forest and UCLA at their absolute best to stay close to the powerful Ohio teams. Even the coaches — Ed Jucker of Cincinnati and Fred Taylor of Ohio State — admit their teams might be better than a year ago, when their battle drew praise as one of the great games in basketball history.

A Sweet Taste of Revenge
Lingers With Casey Today

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The satisfying taste of revenge still lingered today with Casey Stengel, the frisky septuagenarian who has no regrets about his decision to leave the plush office of a bank vice president for the unadorned cubby hole of a major league baseball manager.

Stengel, 71, fired by the New York Yankees two years ago after guiding the team to 10 pennants in 12 years, never figured a measure of revenge would be his so quickly when he was tapped to manage the New York Mets for their 1962 National League debut.

But Stengel watched with evident satisfaction Thursday as his collection of hand-me-downs throttled the big bats of the world champions and gained a 4-3 victory at St. Petersburg in their first meeting of the exhibition season.

"Oh, it was just lovely," said Stengel after a pinch-hit single by Richie Ashburn drove in the winning run in the last of the ninth. "It's terrific. It should be very good for my players."

The triumph also gave a lift to Mets Coach Rogers Hornsby, a Hall of Famer with a 358 lifetime batting average who had been snubbed by 61-home run hitter Roger Maris of the Yankees in a pre-game incident.

Hornsby, asked by a photographer to pose with Maris, agreed. But when the two went to the Yankees dugout, Maris walked away, refusing to pose. Hornsby, who supposedly has made some unattractive comments on Maris' hitting ability, exploded.

"That bush leaguer," he stormed. "I've posed for pictures with some major league hitters—not bush leaguers."

In other Florida games, Kansas City whipped Washington 6-3 at Pompano Beach, Los Angeles Dodgers beat Detroit 6-4 at Lakeland, St. Louis defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-1 at Sarasota, Cincinnati bopped Philadelphia

To Climax
Cage Play
Saturday

NEW YORK (AP)—St. John's of New York and Dayton, two polished college basketball teams thoroughly tested in the pressure of tournament competition, climax stirring campaigns Saturday afternoon in the championship final of the 25th National Invitation Tourney at Madison Square Garden.

The seasoned contenders enter the showdown with sharply contrasting records in past NITs. St. John's has won three titles under its current coach, Joe Lapchick, while Dayton has had five second-place finishes under Tom Blackburn.

Both the Redmen and the Flyers from Ohio bounced into the title game with overpowering second half comebacks Thursday night. St. John's trimmed Duquesne in a bruising match, 75-65, after Dayton had rocked Loyola of Chicago 98-82.

Bill Chmielewski, held to one field goal in 11 tries as the swift Loyola Ramblers raced to a 44-41 lead at intermission, combined with sophomore Gordy Hatten to spearhead Dayton's explosive 57-point second half. The 235-pound pivot finished with 27 points and 19 rebounds while Hatten, the tourney's classiest all-around performer so far, netted 33 points and contributed nine assists.

St. John's, down by nine points at the half, rallied behind the sweeping, soft hooks and accurate foot shooting of Leroy Ellis, then gradually broke away from Duquesne on the scoring of Kevin Loughery, Willie Hall and sub Bill O'Sullivan. Ellis had 29 points, Loughery added 18 and Hall 16.

Willie Somerset paced the spirited Dukes with 22 points. A short but bitter brawl spiced the St. John's-Duquesne game. Donnie Burks of the Redmen and Mike Rice of the Dukes triggered it when they tangled with about three minutes to play, and before order was restored most of the players and several spectators became embroiled.

The championship game will be nationally televised (NBC) at 4 p.m. EST, following the consolation game for third between Loyola and Duquesne.

Favor Emile
Over Paret
For the Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Challenger Emile Griffith, seeking to regain the welterweight boxing championship he lost to Benny (Kid) Paret, is a 16-5 favorite over the titleholder for their third title fight Saturday night.

The 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden, which finds the wearer of the crown an unusually heavy underdog, will be nationally televised (by ABC) starting at 10 p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

Griffith, 24, from the Virgin Islands now living in New York, won the title by stopping Paret in the 13th round last April at Miami Beach. Paret took it back Sept. 30.

The battle between the two camps already has begun with Griffith's handlers insisting they will turn thumbs down on certain officials. At least five are said to be persona non grata with the Griffith faction.

Paret says, "Any officials are okay with me."

The New York State Athletic Commission is scheduled to consider the complaints from the Griffith camp today.

Since their last fight, Griffith has fought three times, knocking out Stanford Bulla and outpointing Isaac Logart and Johnny Torres.

Paret, 25, a Cuban, took a crack at Gene Fullmer's portion of the middleweight title, but lost by a knockout in the 10th round. A seven-year ring campaigner, Paret has a record of 34 wins, 11 losses and 3 draws. Griffith is 28-3-0 for four years as a pro.

Rangers In Hockey Win
Over Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Barrel-chested Gump Worsley got a puck in the eye, the Rangers got a scare and player-coach Doug Harvey felt nothing but more pressure.

"We damned near blew it," exclaimed goalie Worsley after Thursday night's 4-3 National Hockey League squeaker over last place Boston.

In effect, it made the "magic number" one point for New York to clinch the final Stanley Cup playoff berth over Detroit.

Said Harvey: "As far as I'm concerned this brings the whole season to a showdown with our only remaining game at home Sunday night with Chicago."

If Detroit wins both its remaining games at Toronto Saturday night and at home against Montreal Sunday, the Rangers will need a tie. That would deadlock New York and the Red Wings with 63 points and identical 25-32-13 records. In such a case the playoff spot goes to the club with the most goals scored. New York holds a 10-goal edge.

Montreal defeated Toronto 4-1 in the other game Thursday night.

Worsley played despite being hit in the left eye by the flat side of the puck in the pre-game warmup when a shot by Pat Hanigan glanced off his glove.

Ninth Run
Of Campbell
Stakes Set

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The ninth running of the $100,000-added John B. Campbell, Maryland's richest handicap, is the main attraction in thoroughbred racing Saturday and 14 horses from all sections of the country are scheduled to clash at Bowie in what could be a thriller.

The probable favorite is Leonard P. Sasso's Globemaster, one of the leading 3-year-old colts of 1961, who will carry top weight of 120 pounds in the mile and one-sixteenth gallop.

Globemaster, acquired as a yearling at the Saratoga sales for $80,000, is returning to major competition after finishing unplaced in the Royal Poinciana Handicap at Hialeah. He suffered an eye injury and tuned up at Bowie last week with an easy victory. His big scores in 1961 included the Wood Memorial, Saranac handicap, and Arlington Classic.

Robert Lehman's Ambipose, third back of Yorky and Katherine Price's Carry Back in Hialeah's $100,000 Widener, is second high weight for the Campbell with 119 pounds.

Viewers Put Many Hours Before Set

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If you total up all the hours each TV set is on, there are 24 million hours of TV viewing each day in America.

That is just one of the startling totals turned up by a trade organization, the Television Bureau of Advertising, in its annual state-of-TV study.

The bureau's break-down of the nation's viewing habits for 1961 puts the number of sets at 49 million and indicates that the average home has its sets turned on for slightly more than five hours a day. That doesn't quite reach the record of five hours and 10 minutes achieved in 1957. While evening viewing continues to diminish slightly, the bureau's figures show daytime audiences are picking up.

There are now well over six million homes with two or more sets, the bureau said.

Bob Hope's show, whenever it turns up on NBC, invariably picks up the audience of the month. People just seem to like to watch Bob.

Highpoint of his program is the star's monologue, invariably topical, irreverent and sharply witty—but then the show usually steps into a ragged mish-mash. The sketches usually appear to be rehearsed casually, if at all, and the guest stars are constantly overcome with uncontrollable fits of the giggles.

Things were about normal on Thursday night. Ethel Merman did belt out a couple of songs with customary verve. Piper Laurie and Maximilian Schell demonstrated little aptitude for comedy in the sketches, and Fabian, of rock 'n' roll fame, sang and tried to swap jokes with Bob. Despite everything, it was a Bob Hope show and it was fun to watch.

Most fascinating casting note of the day is ABC's addition of Dr. Joyce Brothers to its April 6 "All-Star Comedy Show." She will be teamed with Buddy Hackett in a sketch. Viewers may remember Dr. Brothers from the old quiz show days—she won a pot of money as an expert on prize-fight records. More recently, however, she has presided as a psychology expert, over a series of TV problems and advice programs.

Eddie Adams will star in a half-hour ABC variety show April 9—in a time spot occupied by her late husband's specials and also with the sponsors who underwrote Ernie Kovacs' shows. . . . "The Dick Van Dyke Show" has been renewed for another year on CBS in the same time spot.

Recommended weekend viewing:

Saturday—"Tonight in Samarkand," CBS, 8:30-9:30 p.m. — drama special with James Mason and Janice Rule in a circus story.

Sunday—"Arms and the State," NBC, 10-11 p.m. — One of the "White Paper" series, about the defense effort and its effect on American life.

Law Libraries Shrink Fast Through Thefts

DETROIT (AP) — Common Pleas Judge Benjamin C. Stanczyk complained about law book thievery in a letter to the Wayne County Board of Auditors Thursday and asked something be done to stop it.

Judge Stanczyk said he is missing 32 law volumes from his inner-hallway library in the City-County Building and that Common Pleas Judge David C. Vokes has 25 volumes missing.

Storm Victims Getting Help From Neighbors

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) "Nobody asked for help. This is just old fashioned neighbor-to-neighbor friendship."

That's the way Charley Zaines, news director of WSN and co-chairman of Operation Help, described the promises of 1,000 volunteers from Pennsylvania's Lehigh Valley to work Sunday to help New Jersey shore communities dig out from the sand left by the severe storm two weeks ago.

Brando Film Underway After Delay

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Now that the Bounty has finally beached, the ugly American is setting sail.

Marlon Brando started acting this week in "The Ugly American" several months after he was supposed to. The reason for the delay was "Mutiny on the Bounty," the granddaddy of sea epics that went overboard on schedule and budget.

It is no secret that Marlon is vastly more enthused about "Ugly," which will cost a mere $4.5 million, than "Mutiny," with a tab upwards of $20 million.

"It's really exciting to watch Marlon get his juices up," says the actor's longtime friend and now producer-director, George Englund.

"The role is really a departure for Marlon. He plays an American ambassador, and that means wearing suits and all that. He's even growing his own mustache for the part. I think we're going to see him at his best in this one."

Englund could be slightly prejudiced, maybe even brainwashed by his long association with "The Ugly American." He has been working on the project since 1959, sweating out the long months of preparing the script, tilting with politicians and waiting

Prisoners Won't Be Able to Call

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Prisoners in the city jail got a new shipment of 2,500 paper match books Thursday, but aren't sure they want them.

Printing on the match books said: "Thank you, call again."

for Marlon to terminate his long careers with "One-Eyed Jacks" and "Mutiny."

"It's hard to believe that we're really at the starting gate," said the handsome young film creator.

There were times when some folks here wondered if he'd make it. "The Ugly American" has been a controversial project from the start. The William J. Lederer-Eugene Burdick best seller lashed at American mistakes in foreign aid to Southeast Asia. Plans for the film were denounced by Sen. J. William Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

There were rumors the government, especially the State Department, didn't want the film made. Englund denied this.

Tax Bill Moves To House

Tax Rewards Bill Trimmed By Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said Thursday the tax revision bill cleared for House action "will truly serve the national interest" and be consistent with budget needs.

The House Ways and Means Committee, which has extensively revised Kennedy's recommendations on the measure, pared down the amount of tax rewards to businesses spending money on modern facilities. Proponents calculated the measure would not endanger a balanced budget.

Kennedy sent a "Dear Wilbur" letter to Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., congratulating him and his committee colleagues on the work they had done.

The committee completed the task at a brief session. A previous supposedly final version had been cleared last week after a year's work by the committee. Republican minority members complained that the latest overhaul was achieved through "railroading" and "political legerdemain."

The House Rules Committee, which had withheld approval until it could look at the slimmed-down version, quickly cleared the measure and House leaders set aside debate to begin next Wednesday, with a vote likely Thursday.

Kennedy wrote Mills he was hopeful the House would support the committee measure.

Making Full, Fair Probe Into Death

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Government Commissioner Max Duplessy said Thursday he is making the fullest and fairest investigation possible of the mysterious death of Mrs. Lucille Rogers Von Linde, wealthy New York and Kansas City socialite.

Her husband, Dr. Manfred Von Linde, an Alabama—born police surgeon with offices on Park Avenue, New York, is being held without charge in central police headquarters here.

Duplessy, whose position corresponds to district attorney or prosecutor, said the investigation is being conducted on the basis of an autopsy and "public rumor."

The commissioner declined to describe the rumors but said the death of the former Mrs. Rogers, widow of a Manhattan banker, had created much comment which officials thought should be investigated.

As for the autopsy, there has been no official report but unofficial sources said it has been completed and the report forwarded to Duplessy. These sources expressed belief that the study of organs and tissues was inconclusive—that they produced no evidence of either foul play or massive heart attack.

Medical sources commented, however, that some forms of heart attack, notably "coronary insufficiency," could cause death without any evidence that can be detected in an autopsy.

Communist Germany Opens Fire on U. S. Military Car

BERLIN (AP)—A U. S. military car was fired on in Communist East Germany but nobody was hurt, U. S. Army headquarters said Thursday.

The car was attached to the U. S. military liaison mission at Potsdam, in East Germany.

It was the second time a car belonging to a Western Allied mission in Potsdam was fired on by East German guards this month. A British Royal Air Force driver was seriously wounded March 10.

Informants said the latest shooting occurred Wednesday or Tuesday at Gotha, a town about 150 miles southwest of Berlin near the Iron Curtain border between East and West Germany. The car was carrying a U. S. Army officer on an official mission in East Germany.

The State Department in Washington said U. S. military authorities in Germany have made a strong protest to the Soviet military there.

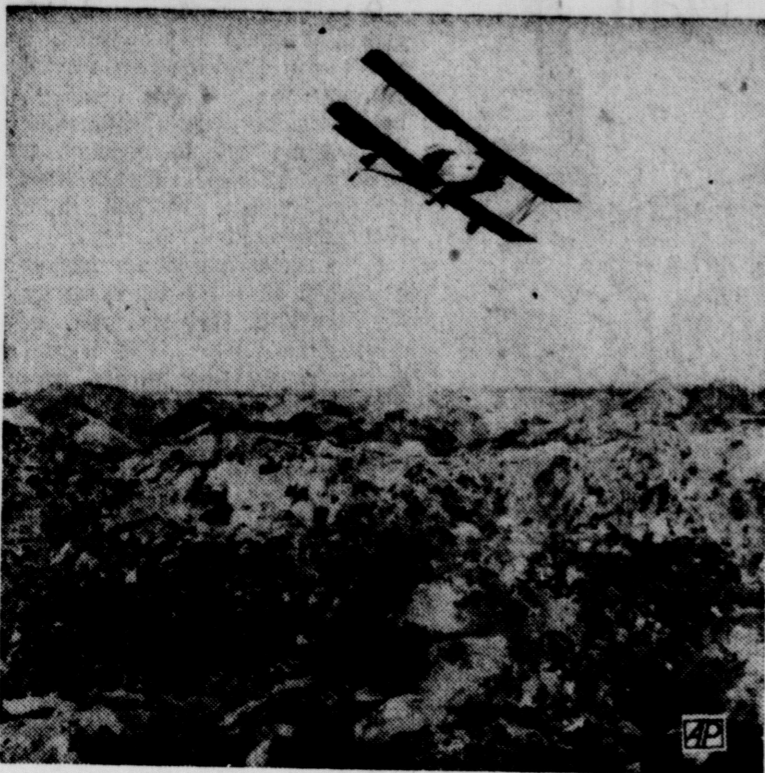

U. S. sources indicated that if a satisfactory response is not received from the Russians, the matter may be brought up at the governmental level.

It was regarded here as one of the most serious occurrences in the touchy Berlin situation since the Reds erected the wall dividing Berlin last August.

An authoritative source gave this account of the incident.

The U. S. car was challenged to halt by a patrol of East German police. The car drew to the roadside and an argument ensued about the right of the East Germans to stop it.

The American officer demanded to talk with a Soviet officer.

RESTORING VEGETATION — A plane flies over strip mine pits of the Peabody Coal Co. near Montrose, Mo., seeding the rugged area. Each year the company restores vegetation to the land ripped up in the previous year's mining operations. A combination of brome grass, orchard grass, fescue, alfalfa and lespedeza was mixed special for the company by the Missouri Farmers Association. The combination has shown ability to restore vegetation on the strip pits. (AP Mat Service.)

Appeals Conviction

Eichmann Makes Bid To Upset Judgement

JERUSALEM (AP)—Adolf Eichmann appealed to Israel's highest court Thursday to judge him a soldier who took orders and to upset the judgment of a special tribunal which condemned him to hang.

The convicted executor of the Nazi plot to liquidate European Jewry sat ramrod straight behind bulletproof-glass as his West German defense counsel pictured him a man bound by oath to accept orders from his superiors.

To have countermanded orders, or acted independently of them, would have been the most precarious actions Eichmann could have taken, attorney Robert Servatius declared. He was a cog in the apparatus, not the gray eminence behind persecution of the Jews, the lawyer asserted.

Servatius challenged Israeli authority in trying Eichmann, arguing that the law under which Eichmann was convicted was invalid and that he was brought here illegally from Argentina. Eichmann, he added, was in no position to "ask for his rights before a court of the state which kidnapped him."

Servatius also petitioned the court to summon 15 additional witnesses, including Dr. Hans

33,000 Signed Up

From Our Washington Bureau
Some 33,000 corn and grain sorghum farmers in Missouri have already signed up to divert acreage under the 1962 feed grain program.

These farmers—representing almost a fourth of all farms in the state which grow these grains—have agreed to take 1,031,000 acres out of production. For doing this, these farmers will be able to collect in the form of advance payments this spring about $14,307,000, which represents about one-half of what they will receive from the federal government for not growing these grains.

Will Go on Visits

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United Nations announced Thursday that acting Secretary-General U Thant will pay short visits to Sweden and Denmark in the first part of May.

The leader of the police squad declared he was in charge there. The American repeated his demand to see a Soviet officer. When some time passed without a Soviet officer appearing, the American car started to drive off.

The East German police opened fire with a submachine gun. Some shots hit and burst a tire. Three other shots pierced the trunk of the car, without hitting the occupants.

The car rolled on for some miles on a flat tire. Then there was a stop to change the tire. But then another tire burst.

The Americans stopped a passing East German car to seek assistance.

By then the East German police had caught up with them again. They arrested the driver of the East German car.

The American officer demanded to talk with a Soviet officer.

Despair Replaced By Hope

Surgery Can Now Correct Girl's Abnormal Growth

CHICAGO (AP)—Edward and Rose Maresca leaped through the morning newspapers in the living room of their Brooklyn home one night last fall. And suddenly the light of hope brightened their lives for the first time in six years.

They had reached the point of despair about their daughter, Donna Marie, 6. She's a tiny brunette beauty. But her right arm had grown four inches longer than the left, and her right leg seven inches longer than the left one. Four fingers on her right hand were about three times the size of those of a 200-pound man.

Maresca, a police detective, noticed the abnormal growth when Donna Marie was an infant. He started making a round of doctors.

"A couple of doctors recommended that the hand be amputated," he said. "It was a tough six years."

"One night we were sitting in the living room watching TV and looking at the morning papers," he said.

He saw an Associated Press wirephoto of Doris Kurteff, 14-month-old Australian girl whose two man-size fingers on her right hand were being pared down to normal in a series of operations in Chicago.

"I leaped to the phone and called the Daily News," he said. He learned that the surgery was being done in Chicago Wesley Memorial Hospital.

Donna Marie, her dad and mother met newsmen there Thursday.

The child already has had two operations. One explored her right hand. In the other her right leg was shortened by cutting the

Peronists Prepare Big Weapon

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Ex-dictator Juan D. Peron's followers prepared Thursday their biggest weapon—the Argentine working man—in an effort to force President Arturo Frondizi to give them back important election victories gained last Sunday.

Nearly two million workers were under call of Peronist unions to walk out Friday in a 24-hour protest strike and threaten to extend it indefinitely unless Frondizi defies Peron-hating military leaders.

Responsible quarters expressed fears a widespread Peronist strike might lead to the first bloodshed of the crisis that began with sweeping election returns for Peronist candidates.

The underground Supreme Council of the Peronist party declared in a manifesto, "We will resort to violence if necessary" to regain the victories Frondizi decreed wiped out.

By all accounts, the elections swept by Peronist candidates were free and democratic. Millions of Argentines ballot for Peronist candidates who had said they worked for Peron's return.

Frondizi nullified Peronist victories in five key provinces, including populous Buenos Aires. The reason given was to "preserve the republican form of government."

FCIC Office Moved To Kansas City, Mo.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Transfer of the national branch office of the Federal Crop Insurance Corp. from Chicago to Kansas City was announced Thursday by the Department of Agriculture.

The office, which serves as the national business office for insurance operations, will be housed in a new building at 8930 Ward Parkway. It has about 150 employees.

John N. Luft, manager of the FCIC, said the shift was made because Kansas City is the center of the greatest concentration of crop insurance business and is the hub of travel and communications.

Kansas Woman to Athens

Will Enter Appeal To Save Son's Life

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The mother of a young American sentenced to die before a Greek firing squad left Thursday for Athens to plead for her son's life.

Mrs. John Lowen fought back tears as she boarded a plane for New York. Repeatedly she told newsmen: "I'm just going to see my son. I just want to see him."

The son is Roger Ranney of Chanute, Kan., a 27-year-old adventurer who was convicted in a Greek court of murdering two seamen. Their bodies have not been found.

Since the conviction on Oct. 14, 1961, numerous appeals in Ranney's behalf have failed.

Mrs. Lowen plans a direct appeal to King Paul.

Accompanying her on the trip is Don Donaldson, a Chanute grocer and a friend of Ranney. An anonymous donor provided $1,000 to pay for Mrs. Lowen's journey. Donaldson is using his own funds.

The Ranney case is filled with all the elements of a good mystery story.

It involves a young man who left Chanute without even a traffic violation to mar his record but who later was given a bad conduct discharge from the Navy for going AWOL, then became a fugitive when he skipped bond on a burglary charge.

It has not become known why he went to Greece. He gave two complicated versions of how the two seamen, Capt. George Mantalos and Dimitrios Elstathou, disappeared.

Time lost due to missile strikes has been rising slowly since the first of the year. The missile labor record is considerably improved during the past year from what it had been, but officials say it still is not good enough.

Accordingly, top representatives of the missile manufacturers, base contractors, and the labor unions involved have been summoned here for a Pentagon conference April 2.

Among those scheduled to exhort the group into greater labor peace efforts are Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, McNamara, Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg and top generals and space program experts.

All concerned—the government officials, labor union and management men—are worried that if the last time upturned continues Congress may step in with legislation banning any strikes. They feel this could lead to other controls.

Goldberg recently assured Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., that the Labor Department is getting full cooperation from national union leaders in fulfilling their missile no-strike pledge. Goldberg said the difficulty has been "at the local level where individual workers have acted without union sanction." McClellan heads a group of senators who are considering a push for a defense strike ban.

Only Minor Variations Of Approach

Deadlock Prevails; Americans Give Red Idea Cold Shoulder

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union proposed Thursday Western recognition of Communist East Germany under a formula that would give an international authority some supervision over Western access routes to Berlin.

The Americans cold-shouldered the idea on grounds the proposal represents only a minor variation in the over-all Soviet approach to the Berlin problem. It does not involve a basic change that could be accepted by the West.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko have had numerous private talks about the Berlin problem including a two-hour session during the afternoon in a luxury lakeside hotel. American sources said the issue remains deadlocked.

Gromyko, at a luncheon for East German Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz, said that any solution of the Berlin problem presupposed Western recognition of East German sovereignty.

The Soviet proposal called for giving the East Germans control of the air, land and water routes to West Berlin, isolated 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain. But unlike earlier Soviet proposals along these lines, it mentioned for the first time an international authority that would be empowered to intervene in disputes.

The entire proposal, however, was dependent upon recognition of East Germany, something the Western powers never have agreed to.

The East Germans already control German and Western civilian traffic along the access routes. U.S., British and French military traffic still is cleared along these routes by Soviet soldiers. The four powers also still sit together in the Berlin Air Safety Center.

Gromyko's move on the Berlin problem came after Western protests over a week ago of Soviet harassment tactics in the airlines. The Russians at that time scattered metal chaff aimed at throwing off radar equipment.

Even as the news of Gromyko's proposal was circulating among delegates to the 17-nation disarmament conference, U.S. Army headquarters in West Germany reported that an American military staff car was shot up by East German police in East Germany. No one was hurt.

Authorities Optimistic On Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—American authorities are cautiously optimistic that the tide may soon start turning against the Communists in South Viet Nam's guerrilla warfare, it was indicated Thursday.

A Defense Department spokesman said reports to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in Honolulu Wednesday pointed to a marked improvement within the next 90 days.

"We've got the ship turned around and we're beginning to move," this official said, speaking from first-hand knowledge of what went on at the Honolulu conference with top U.S. military and civilian leaders from Viet Nam.

On his way back from Hawaii, McNamara told newsmen in San Francisco Wednesday night that U.S. aid has enabled the South Vietnamese to go over to the offensive in the guerrilla fighting.

The department spokesman's hopeful report came as dispatches from Saigon spoke of a stepup of a stepup in attacks by the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas in the immediate vicinity of the South Vietnamese capital.

Military experts on the scene said fighting has increased sharply throughout the Southeast Asian country with total casualties on both sides running close to 1,000 a week.

The Pentagon spokesman said Gen. Paul D. Harkins, the new U. S. military chief in South Viet Nam, regards this as a favorable development.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. S. children raised more than $2 million last fall in their Hal-loween trick-or-treat collections for the U. N. Children's Fund (UNICEF). This exceeded the previous high by $250,000. The U. S. committee announced it was going to publish the names of absentees.

The Snail May Get Moving

Sedalians and Pettis countians, also, responded forcefully to the appeal for support of the five cent gasoline tax in last Tuesday's election.

The opinion here on Amendment 1 corresponded to state-wide sentiment in favor of the allocation of gas tax money for city streets, county roads and highways. A sensible educational program paid off for a measure that halts double gas taxation by elimination of city gas taxes.

Sedalia's total vote for the amendment was 4,014 for and 1,423 against. This would indicate that the amendment was popular enough to cause at least 600 to desert the perennial flying squadron of 2,000 negative voters who can be counted on almost invariably to oppose any measure whatsoever presented in an election in Sedalia.

Every precinct but one in Sedalia unqualifiedly supported the amendment. That one was the first precinct of the Second ward which voted no, 100 to 88.

Sedalians are of the opinion they have a personal stake in the outcome of this amendment. For various reasons among which is the money factor, the Urban Highway Development Program for this community is almost in a state of suspended animation. Consideration of this project was initiated back in 1955. Two attempts to pass a bond issue in support of it were defeated. The third election was successful in October 1959. That's 2½ years ago. At a Chamber of Commerce banquet here in January, spokesmen for the State Highway department indicated the pace toward initial construction work had good reason to be accelerated in the near future. Observers are hopeful now that the gas tax approval will be of some help in speeding up the program if it is money the highway department needs to get this job on its way.

There is a saying that by perseverance the snail reached the ark.

By imaginative comparison one might conclude there is yet hope after seven years of effort that Sedalia's Urban plan may ultimately reach its goal, too—completion of construction. In the meantime community morale would be heightened tremendously by just a beginning of construction, even a teeny-weeny start, if you please.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Star Witnesses at Hoffa's Trial

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Jimmy Hoffa will stage a star studded trial when his case comes up in federal court next week in Orlando, Fla. He has subpoenaed none other than William Rogers, former attorney general under Eisenhower, who first brought the case against him; also Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas, head of the rackets committee, who first started the investigation of the Teamsters.

Hoffa has had trouble serving a subpoena on both men, but the other day a process-server handed a summons to Sen. McClellan just outside his office, together with a check for $150 to cover his expenses to Orlando.

The senator from Arkansas accepted both the summons and the check.

"Boy, this is great," he grunted. "I finally got some of this Teamsters money."

Bill Rogers is still on the loose—as far as the Teamsters' process-server is concerned.

Note—What Hoffa's attorneys want to prove is that any evidence against him was obtained by wiretapping. To that end, Malcolm Wilkey, former chief of the Justice Department's criminal division, has also been slapped with a subpoena.

Bonanza For Lobbyists

An interesting congressman from the race-horse country of Kentucky has quietly put through a tax amendment which should bring a record number of lobbyists swarming into congressional anterooms, the cocktail lounges, and the hotels of Washington. It will also deluge the lobbies of every state capital.

He is John Watts of Nicholasville, Ky., Democrat, and he has induced the ways and means committee to permit lobbying expenses to be deducted from income taxes as a business expense.

That is what the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers, and other big business organizations have been trying to shove through Congress for years. With almost no publicity the other day, Congressman Watts pushed it through the ways and means committee of which he is a member, which means almost certain passage by the full House of Representatives.

Simultaneously, Congressman Watts is one of the key Democrats who have doubts about medical aid for the elderly.

What his lobbying amendment means is that the American people will pay the cost of sending thousands of lobbyists to Washington and to various state capitals. They will even pay the cost of lobbying before municipal councils. The public will pay for the whisky consumed in smoke-filled rooms, the plush hotel suites maintained by many big business firms in Washington and the state capitals, the lush receptions given for congressmen, and almost everything else which pertains to lobbying.

In Congressman Watts' district, for instance, are located plants of the giant Schenley and national distillers. They sometimes send their lobbyists swarming over the capital. Under the Watts amendment they can deduct this cost of lobbying and let the other taxpayers pay it.

Guest Editorial

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR: Add to Marvels of Automation.—"Gives you $1,000.00 automatically." is the display line in a mail order advertisement. The copy goes on to describe a "perpetual calendar bank" in which a 25-cent piece must be inserted each day to make the mechanism change the date.

The advertiser must not figure out for the reader just how many days (months? years?) it will take to accumulate the thousand dollars. But he does say that at the price of $1.99 "it pays for itself in eight days." He could say, for that matter, "with a cent left over."

In the interest of clarity one little addition or reminder might be pertinent. This is, that to get these "automatic" results you have to put in the quarter a day. At least, nothing is said about where the quarters are to come from.

Just one further thought. The buyer is supposed to add 25 cents for postage. That would make it seem to take nine days to get your money "back." Maybe humans, like kittens, get their eyes open on the ninth day.

K's Talk Differently

While Nina Khrushchev, wife of the Russian Premier was appealing to the women of America for general and complete disarmament, the Soviet government was renewing its threats of warning about Cuba.

In a nine minute broadcast, Nina Khrushchev spoke in fairly good English:

"Let us sink atom bombs along with other weapons in the deepest part of the ocean and live without weapons, as good neighbors, going about our peaceful affairs."

Mrs. Khrushchev, herself, does not want war. Neither do the women in Russia, nor women throughout the world. We would like to believe that the Soviet government stands behind the wife of the Premier but they seem to be talking two ways.

On an average day, some 451,000 persons are confined to hospitals in the United States.

Blues singing is said to have originated in Basin Street, New Orleans, La.

Last Ditch

Special Season Of Prayer

This is the time for prayer and thought
When cleansing of our hearts is sought,
When eyes should lift to Heaven above

To thank our Father for his love,
And for His Son He sent to save

Us through the Christian faith He gave,
What should we offer in this hour?

Throughout the year we've felt His power,
We've asked his guidance in our need,

We have not had to beg and plead,
For when we ask in earnest prayer

We know at once His loving care—
Some things, He feels, He cannot grant,

He whispers merely then, "I can't"
But always then hearts seem to sooth,

The way cannot be always, smooth,
And we accept His strength, for lo,

He's closer then, to us, we know,
And if the darkness we must fight,

He is the one who holds the light,
And thus these days we set aside

To banish hatred, wrong and pride,
To humbly meditate and pray,

Grateful for blessings of each day,
For all the things that He has done,

Giving His only begotten son,
That life eternal we may share,

Yes, Lent's our special time of prayer.

"You always look immaculate-groomed. How do you do this?" a reader asked Clare Boothe who has a monthly page, "Without Portfolio," in McCall's Magazine.

Mrs. Luce's brusque, even smug reply to that one was: "With a hairbrush, a clothes brush, a toothbrush, a bath brush, and lots of soap and water."

Oh, come now, Mrs. Luce — don't try to give readers that kind of brush-off. Gone are the days — in fact, long gone — when all a woman needed to turn a well-groomed face to the world was an assortment of brushes and plenty of soap and water.

How about all the hours women today (even women without your reputation for being well-groomed) spend at beauty salons for hair styling, hair cutting, permanents, manicures, hair tinting, and so on? (Just between us girls — you do have this kind of expert help with your grooming, don't you?)

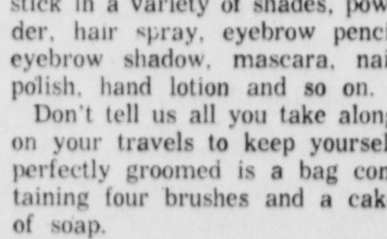

Also, how about all the money a well-groomed woman of these times spends on lotions, creams, lipsticks, eye make-up, bath oils, bath powders and so on? Don't tell us there's nothing on that dressing table of yours but brushes and a cake of soap.

Look Clare, your grandmother may have been able to present to the world a picture of immaculate grooming — depending on nothing but a bunch of brushes and a cake of soap.

But surely not you. You are living in an age where women really gild the lily in earnest — and you don't suffer anything by comparison with the others.

You know as well as the rest of us that a woman today can't even take a week-end trip without cramming her cosmetic case with creams, oils, make-up base, lipstick in a variety of shades, powder, hair spray, eyebrow pencil, eyebrow shadow, mascara, nail polish, hand lotion and so on.

Don't tell us all you take along on your travels to keep yourself perfectly groomed is a bag containing four brushes and a cake of soap.

Faith Has Depths

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Written for

The Danish theologian Soren Kierkegaard insisted that you could not understand faith unless you knew what it was to swim in water 70,000 fathoms deep. That sounds like a cliché until you figure it out. A fathom is a unit of measure equal to six feet. (I looked it up in the encyclopedia.) So multiply it. That's swimming in water 420,000 feet deep. It has a way of helping a man to know that he can't go tiptoeing around in that depth. He's in over his head.

The figure has the same quality as Jesus' injunction that we ought to forgive 70 times 7. That's 490 times and it poses a picture which also defies tiptoeing around.

All of this is relevant since we live in a time which is a paradox. Here we are adventuring in the unknown, talking of landing a man on the moon by 1975 and dealing with the things of the vast unknown. At the same time we want life to be a series of safe statements, easily proven, looked at, and measured.

Such things cannot be faith, for as we read in the Scripture, "It is the leap beyond this barrier which deepens the water."

Suddenly, there you are out where you can't touch bottom. That's when you swim.

So I like the words of my friend Charles Sardeson:

"You can never know the sea if you just take a cottage on the shore. You will have to get out in the deep where the waves are born."

"You can never really know the meaning of faith until you get into those deep places of life where God is, where you count on him alone to give the meaning, to show the way, to set the step."

"That means that faith is also obedience, for only those who believe obey. It is not like life to venture too far out when it can stand and look on."

These are times when you can start either with the meaning of the universe or with the possi-

Doctor's Letter Can Attest To Diabetic's Job Fitness

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.
Written for NEA

Q — I am an 18-year-old high school graduate with diabetes. I was turned down for a secretarial job, for which I am qualified, because of my illness. My mother advises me not to mention it next time I fill out an application for employment. Do you think that necessary?

A — Your experience cannot be unique, as a recent survey by the New York Diabetes Assn. indicates that 44 per cent of diabetics conceal their illness, presumably because some 53.2 per cent reported that their condition caused them to be refused employment at least once.

This is a serious reflection on hiring practices that the association plans to attack without delay.

In the meanwhile, I would suggest that you obtain from your doctor a letter stating that your condition is completely controlled and that, in his opinion, you can successfully serve in the capacity for which you seek employment so far as your health is concerned.

If you are then rejected, perhaps you are as well off since the attitude of any organization that follows such hiring practices might be reflected in other unpleasant ways.

Q — Can color blindness be corrected? If so, which vitamins are best to take?

A — Color blindness cannot be corrected. Taking vitamins or seeking any other form of treatment is a waste of money. However, if you are color blind you must be sure to avoid participation in any activity in which color recognition is essential.

For example, driving a motor vehicle where failure to recognize the yellow warning light or the red stop light might end disastrously for yourself and for others. In addition to what injuries you might sustain, you would also be liable to civil and criminal penalties.

Q — My mother has just been told she has scleroderma. I looked it up in a medical book we have in the school library and it says it is a fatal disease. Is this so? And can nothing be done to save her?

A — It is unhappily true that widespread progressive scleroderma is a disease for which we can do very little. But there are disturbances that resemble scleroderma and that pose no threat to life.

For example, the condition called "morphea" is one in which only isolated spots of skin are involved, and these may be nothing more than a nuisance.

Then there is a condition called "scleredema" in which extremities are spared. If your mother suffers from either morphea or scleroderma, do not despair of her survival but take her to a skin specialist (dermatologist) who may be able to control the condition with drugs that possess ACTH activity (cortical steroids; corticotropins.)

City Junior Gardeners Hold Meet

The Sedalia Junior Garden Club held its February meeting at the Sedalia Public Library at which time it was decided by the members to plant lilies in their yards because the lily is the Junior Garden Club flower.

The meeting opened with the Junior Garden Club pledge and the Conservation Pledge, and the president, Cathy Anderson, presided.

Spring beauty, summer bulbs, forcing forsythia, Japonica, sowing petunia and sweet pea seeds were discussed. Mrs. George Emo, who had on display forced shrubs, said forcing shrubs is fun. It requires no special conditions or equipment, she went on to say.

Just crush the ends of the woody stems to encourage the intake of the water, cover with water for several hours then bring in a warm room and place them in deep jars of water in a sunny window. Syringe the branches themselves daily with lukewarm water to imitate April showers. After a few days of coaxing the experience is rewarding. It gives one the sense of having brought beauty into being. There are many shrubs and branches of fruit trees both cultivated and wild that may be forced.

Mrs. Emo also spoke on when to start petunias indoors to have early plants for transplanting. Good seed and good soil and a sunny location is important. In planting sweet pea seed they should be sown early outdoors in well prepared soil in order that the vines get their growth before the weather turns hot. Plant about four inches deep in trenches and cover about one inch, and as the seedlings grow through the soil gradually back into the trenches.

Junior Gardeners will participate in a plant sale on April 27, at the home of Mrs. M. L. Edwards, with mothers of the girls to send something to be sold, bake sale good, white elephants, or plants; and on May 19, the Council of Garden Clubs Flower Show at Sacred Heart Cafeteria.

Horticulture specimen of pussy willow and forsythia were on display that had been forced by Cathy Brounger and Sandra Kreisel.

A flower arrangement made by Ann McMullin, Janet Norris, Sally Shoemaker and Jerry Oehrke of forced shrubs was presented to the library.

Candy bars were given to the members by Sedalia Garden Club No. 3.

Mrs. P. L. Strole is general chairman of the Sedalia Junior Garden Club.

'They Like What They See'

Boys' Club Members Join Because They Wish To

By Hazel Lang

"I want to see what this thing is like," a youngster said one day to Palmer Nichols, director, as he walked through the door of Convention Hall, Liberty Park, where the Boys Club activities of Sedalia were in progress. "If I like it I may join—but I want to see first."

"Go right ahead," Nichols told him. The boy did. He watched each class for a few minutes and then returned to where Nichols was and put down a dollar bill.

"I want to join," he said, "I liked what I saw."

"That is what we want," said Nichols. "We want them to have only one reason for joining—that is that they want to join."

It didn't seem possible that there could be so little noise with about 150 boys pursuing their favorite pastime from wrestling to art in practically every corner of the big building. A murmuring of voices seemed to be coming from everywhere but with less noise than an ordinary adult meeting of a dozen or so. There was no running, that is one of the rules, and no yelling.

John (Bud) Brown, vice-president of the Boys Club board, told of the amazing change that had come with the few weeks of disciplining since the Boys Club had come into existence.

There was no need to wonder why. Booming out across the big room from the balcony came the voice of Nichols:

"Put that rope down."

Two youngsters at the far end of the room stood still. The acoustics of Convention Hall have always been bad but not when Nichols yells. The one still held the rope which was used for the training of young boxers.

"Put that rope down," he roared again, and the kid finally came to life and put the rope down where he had got it.

A few minutes later Nichols yelled again at another kid who was starting to climb iron bars which raise and lower the basketball baskets. It took a second command from Nichols to bring the boy down. An all around athlete and for many years a coach, he has developed the technique that makes him an excellent director of this new club which is offering the boys of Sedalia an opportunity to learn many skills, to develop physically and to have fun.

On the new floor of the big room the older boys were being coached in basketball aiming at the basket just under the balcony. For the older boys there are baskets at the east and west ends of the room, and on the north and south sides of the room for the Biddies, these baskets, of course, being lower.

There are three age groups in basketball, the Midgets, eight to 11 years old; the Juniors, 11 to 13 and the Intermediates, 14 through 17. A basketball tournament for all three groups was started Saturday.

At the east end of the room boys were receiving instructions in boxing, wearing 14 ounce gloves and head protectors so that they couldn't possibly get hurt. Brent Samuels and Albert Soanka, both experienced in boxing, each was instructing a boy sparring with them, then they put the two youngsters together, who were still too new at it to get into much action.

"An important thing in boxing," said Nichols, "is the foot action which is just like a dance but keeping off balance," but these boys were first learning punches and defense.

Equipment is badly needed and Soanka stated that he hopes to have a small ring a little later. "It's a lot safer," he said, "and they get more the feel for boxing."

Up on the stage 20 or more youngsters were busy in the woodwork class, under the direction of Leo Twenter.

All of the instructors in the Boys Club are unpaid volunteers—unpaid with money, that is, but richly paid otherwise, they feel. If the boys are enjoying the Boys Club, which they definitely are, the instructors are enjoying it still more. Some in the weight lifting and other classes to build better bodies are really doing that for themselves along with the boys and increasing their own skills.

Most of them give just a few hours but Twenter and Bob Moore, instructor in art, are giving full time, all day Saturday and on Wednesday nights.

All over the stage were boys at

Gov. Brizola Ignores All His Critics

By FRANK N. MANITZAS

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP)—Enemies call him another Fidel Castro. Hometown critics view him as a publicity seeker.

Gov. Leonel Brizola takes all this in stride. He sees himself as a champion of legality with a bright future in Brazilian politics.

He is the governor who last month seized the U.S.-owned telephone company in this growing state of Rio Grande do Sul.

Ignoring critics at home and abroad, the debonair, 40-year-old executive says he is in Brazilian politics to stay. He won't go to the sidelines when his term expires next Jan. 31.

To keep himself in the national limelight, he proposes to forge a political alliance with another controversial Brazilian—former President Janio Quadros.

Brizola has invited Quadros to visit him on his return from abroad next week. He has urged Quadros to run for the national office from Rio Grande do Sul.

Under Brazilian law Brizola will be ineligible to run for office in this state. Brizola says he may move over to the neighboring state of Parana, where he also has support, and run for congress.

"Brizola is sincere in his aims to develop Rio Grande do Sul and to develop Brazil," a close adviser said. "He thinks he can do it working with Quadros. That's why he is working hard to keep his name before the people so that they will know him as a leader and not merely as a 'brother-in-law.'"

Brizola's wife is the sister of President Joao Goulart. Brizola played a major role in helping Goulart overcome strong military opposition and move up to the chief executive's post after Quadros quit last August. But Brizola and his tough line against "foreign imperialists" have embarrassed Goulart.

Brizola used his champion of legality argument to justify his expropriation of the National Telephone Co., a branch of the International Telephone & Telegraph Co., two weeks ago.

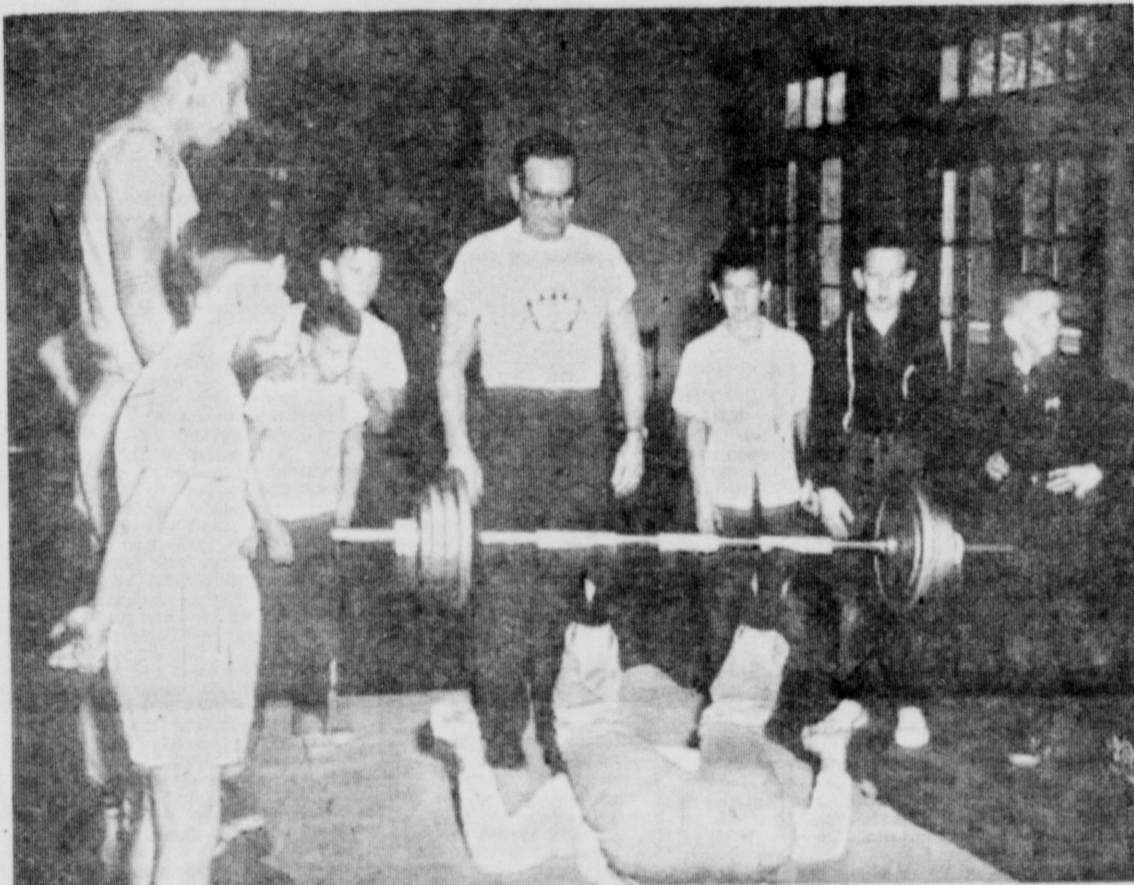

When the U.S. embassy protested, Goulart called Brizola and asked him to agree to negotiate and pay a fair price for the company. Brizola two days later announced there would be no negotiations; compensation would be decided by Brazilian courts under Brazilian law. He has mentioned a price of $400,000, a fraction of the replacement cost.

Brizola shrugs off all leftist and anti-U.S. labels, and denies his policy has jeopardized President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress program in Brazil.

"We in Latin America," he says, "have two problems holding back our progress. One is the large landholders. The other is the foreign economic group or those local economic groups allied with them."

"Unless we get rid of these groups," he maintains, "the Alliance for Progress will not work. They will eat all the dollars provided for aid."

Frank Manitzas has traveled through South America for the last year and a half—and found parts of it like his native Texas.

Gordon Strain, center, are also instructors and look on with a group of boys in the class.

John, according to Moore, has exceptional talent for a boy his age. This is the first time he has ever attempted cartooning and, as the picture shows, has done an excellent job.

tables drawing their designs on plywood, working with all their might trying to cut them out with little saws which is really hard work, one of them said, then putting them together.

David Morris had a shelf that he had designed himself with scalloped edge. This he was making for his mother.

The little what-not shelves looked like they might have been for Valentine Day and St. Patrick's Day, for they looked very much like shamrocks, and of course there was no mistaking of the hearts, but there were diamonds and spades, too, so the shamrocks could have been clubs.

One little boy said that he was making a heart what-not shelf for his mother's party and another was going to give his shamrock to his grandmother.

Most of the woodwork equipment, said Twenter, is borrowed, and he added they certainly needed more equipment here, too, especially clamps which hold the plywood for cutting.

Upstairs were dozens of little Dutch boy door stops lined up on a big table along with cat door stops. They had been made in the woodwork class, and painted in the paint class supervised by Fred Keane. Keane walked over to where a ten year old boy, David Weaver was painting a Dutch boy for the door stop. The youngster showed real talent in art for the little face was just perfect as was the rest of it as far as he had gone.

In the center part of the second floor were the tumblers, and a nice new tumbling mat had just arrived, making three. Gordon Strain and Glenn Dawson were ready to give weight lifting instructions, with Dawson demonstrating weight lifting of 110 pounds and later on 175 pounds. His ability to lift weights has increased tremendously since he started, too.

On the tumbling mats Dawson and William Pinkston demonstrated to the youngsters wrestling holds as they taught them to wrestle.

In keeping with President Kennedy's physical fitness program the kids at the Boys Club are working to really get in shape. When they have qualified they will be given a card.

In a room on the north side up stairs are two big pool tables, a bumper pool table and a small pool table for the younger boys.

Since there are so many boys and so few tables they must register and then when their time comes play just one game. Bill Cramer is in charge of game room, and sometime in the future there will be a pool tournament.

In the south room youngsters were playing checkers. There are many kinds of games in a large cabinet, which the boys may play with when they care to. A piano is in this room, too, and plans are to start a boys' singing group.

In the game room is the library, the book shelves built by the woodwork class. Dale Bersano is in charge of the library and has neatly numbered each book so he can keep track of them. That particular day he had loaned out ten books and one boy was curled up on the davenport reading.

Was there ever anything more fascinating to little boys than cartoons? Now they have an opportunity to learn how to draw those funnies. Bob Moore, Sedalia sign painter and artist is teaching the class. First they draw light lines over the paper making big squares, then draw just in one square at a time, not paying any attention to the other squares, but when they have completed all their squares they are surprised at the cartoon they have sketched. Then, said Moore, they take a pen with a spread ball and outline after which they paint it with water colors.

All the boys must have calisthenics and basketball, all of the other things are optional. Some just stay for one or two classes but many of them got right through the day Saturday or Wednesday evening, the times the club is open.

Many things have been donated and many more things could be used. An large pool table that needs recovering has been donated and the wood will be refinished by the woodwork class. Wood has been donated for the woodwork class by Home Building Corp., several of the lumber yards, some of the building contractors, and cabinet makers.

Another class that will be started as soon as an instructor can be found is leather work.

Bill Cramer, Bill Hodges and Nichols are in charge of the physical fitness program.

When it is time for the Boys' Club to close up on Wednesday nights and Saturday nights the boys clean everything up, and put all their equipment away. They sweep the place up and leave it just in order. They even ask for the privilege of cleaning up, Nichols said.

When summer comes the programs will be held out of doors and will include hiking, camping, swimming and other such things.

The Boys' Club board is very grateful, as are the boys, to the Park Board for letting them use Convention Hall. The Park superintendent, L. R. Black, and park employees have been very helpful, too. They fixed the wire over the windows and have assisted in other ways.

It has been a long hard pull, and often a very discouraging one, when Omer West, new president of the Boys Club board, was chairman of Boys Work for Rotary Club, came up with the idea of getting a Boys Club started here. He and Bud Brown have worked hard, as have others, to make this a reality.

The Missouri, Kansas, Texas Railroad, owners of the Washington Park grounds have leased a

Local Junior College Is Discussed

"A Junior College for Sedalia" was the subject of Thomas J. Norris, superintendent of schools, at the Lions Club noonday meeting Wednesday. The meeting was held at the Bothwell Hotel.

Superintendent Norris revealed a survey which he had been working on for sometime, regarding the possibility of giving to Sedalia a junior college. In his talk, Mr. Norris reported that from the survey to date, there are an average of 155 students who indicated they would attend such a school, but to make a junior college successful and worthwhile, there should be at least 400 students to make it practical while an enrollment of 600 would make it much better.

In a recent survey, out of 767 graduating high school seniors, 299 definitely plan on attending college, 307 were not so sure, and 161 were definitely not going to college and of that number 23 were girls who plan marriage right away.

In the survey Norris pointed out the attendance of Central Missouri State College at Warrensburg had a definite bearing on students lacking a desire for a junior college. Many of the students are attending state colleges, and he brought out 102 are in Missouri University, 12 at Kansas U., and others scattered through 58 other colleges in 39 different states.

An advantage of the junior college is for the young students, where today a great number are graduating at 15 and 16 years of age and are not mature for college, while the two years in a junior college would be most helpful in many ways for these students who desire a college education.

Norris brought out that over a period from 1957 through 1961, Pettis County and Sedalia high school graduates going to college average 33.34 per cent in 1957, 40.21 in 1958, 40.24 in 1959, 40.52 in 1960 and 40.94 in 1961.

In his talk he also impressed on the Lions, "All this talk about our young people leaving Sedalia, it has been figured that 80 percent of these youngsters are still living right here in Sedalia after a five year survey.

"While in a city with a junior college the percentage is up, and approximately 90 per cent remain in their home town," Norris reported. He discussed the various subjects which would be furnished in such a college and pointed out the tuition would amount to about $50 a semester to local students residing within the school district and about $150 a semester for those living outside of the taxing district.

Norris also reported his survey has not been completed, but anticipates completion this year. He is preparing a most complete survey which he will present to Sedalia for its study, not necessarily to push for such a college at this time, but for general information for those interested.

After his talk he answered questions pro and con as to the advantage of such a college in Sedalia.

The speaker was introduced by Charles Maggard, program chairman.

Guest at the meeting was District Governor H. B. Pilkington, of Kansas District 17-AE. Turner, Kansas, of the club. Dist. Gov. Pilkington is visiting relatives in Sedalia.

Western Auto Is Under New Management

The Western Auto Associate Store at 165 West Main was open Thursday under new management.

Cliff Barr, 2405 West 11th, former operator of the store, turned the ownership over to Larry Reddick and Delmar Beadles, both of the Kansas City area, in a recent negotiation.

Reddick was with Western Auto in Kansas City as a company store manager while Beadles was an associate store owner at Blue Springs before coming to Sedalia. Beadles has purchased a home at 2419 Wing, while Reddick is still making his home in Kansas City.

Barr also sold his gas distribution business back to Skelly Oil Company in the deal.

Flooding by Some Major Streams Is Expected This Week

ST. LOUIS — Some flooding by major streams in the St. Louis area was forecast by the Weather Bureau Thursday for this week-end. Three low-lying roads in southwest St. Louis County already were under water.

The Mississippi River was expected to crest about one foot over its 30-foot flood level at St. Louis Sunday. This would not cause severe flooding.

The Missouri River, one foot above flood stage already, was expected to crest at four feet above flood level at St. Charles Monday.

Late Demand Boosts Some Grain Contracts

CHICAGO — An improved late demand boosted some grain futures contracts into a firm range Thursday on the Board of Trade but the market generally was barely steady.

Almost half the deliveries were unchanged or only minor fractions up from previous closes as trade volume appeared to have dropped sharply, perhaps to its lowest level in several weeks.

Brokers said there were no commercial factors of consequence and that speculators seemed inclined to wait until the market showed some tendency toward a general move before making or adding to present commitments in the pits.

Wheat finished 3-1/2 cent a bushel higher, May $2.07 1/2; corn unchanged to 1/4 higher, May $1.12 1/2; oats unchanged to 1/4 higher, May 68 1/2; rye unchanged to 1 cent higher, May $1.30 1/4; soybeans unchanged to 1/4 higher, May $2.48 1/4.
